A Visit to Pleasant View Farms

By E. P. Bartlett of East Sumner

It was on March 6, 1931, that I was favored with the opportunity in which Mr. Bartlett and myself visited Pleasant View Farms and cottages, owned by Leland J. Andrews, at Sumner. It was a pleasant ride over about three miles of a pleasant road, while the snow banks good, and the view of the farm, which is as high as the top of the hill, which is the picturesque scenery added much to the pleasure of the trip.

It was a beautiful day for the occasion. As we stepped from the car, we were greeted with warm handshakes from Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, their two sons, Julian and Lawrence, and little daughter, Tiama. We were escorted into the house where we were comfortably seated in a magnificent furnished sitting room. After a short time, Mr. Andrews, who had taken place around this set of buildings in the few years past, changed the large house by Mr. Andrews, visiting every nook and corner, with a total of twenty-two rooms, of which every one is completely and comfortably furnished. We also entered the store room, where the piazza furniture, lawn chairs and seats, and dozens of window awnings were stored for the winter. Every identical set of these were laid with rich hard wood, even including the forty by eight foot piazza. There is running water from a modern hot and cold water boiler, which furnishes an abundance of hot water to the buildings through a heavy brass pipe. There is hot and cold water throughout the house, with a modern bath room on the second floor of the main house.

There are four sleeping cabs that are twelve feet square, all screened and varnished.

The main house is brilliantly lighted throughout, with a home-like feeling.

These farms comprise some of the best of land, including hundreds of well tilled fields, pasture, and an abundance of old virgin timber.

After following Mr. Andrews around the house and making notes for nearly a half hour, we returned to the sitting room, to chat with the ladies and children for a short while, one of the preferred subjects was a corn husking bee that took place right here on the farm twenty-one years ago last autumn, while all of us were somewhat younger than today.

Mr. Andrews harvested a bumper crop of field corn that season; there were thirty-two people attended this gathering, consisting of about equal numbers, men and women. The large barn was well lighted with kerosene lanterns hanging from pitch fork handles stuck into the sides of the haymows. What? Oh, yes, there were several red ears found, and after the corn was all husked, the ladies went to the house, while the men folks carried the corn away, and moved the fodder back and swept the floor, and then, of course, called the ladies, and all hands formed on for Portland Fancy and an old fashioned barn dance that lasted for about an hour, when Mrs. Andrews announced in a loud voice, "Supper is all hot!" Oh, boys, we fell for that in haste. All went in together, and none of us had to stand up behind the door and wait and see if there were anything left, for there were tables set the whole length of the house, and believe me, they were well laden, too. Oh, any who read this were fortunate in being there that night, hold up your right hand, please. (Send to Advertiser your account of this gathering.)

Here we start in for a few more notes, and this time we lean towards the barn, first coming to the wood shed, which was filled to capacity. Next into the garage where there were two cars and a truck, then to the horse stable, here I want to say that Mr. Andrews does not at this time intend to do extensive farming, but upon following scientific methods of crop raising, and breeding of

Since Remodeling his stable there were a handsome pair of blacks, combination drivers and workers. From here we step into the cow department, where we looked at quality instead of quantity, as several large milking cows are leased to milk farms in Rumford for the winter. One does not have to step a foot out of doors while visiting every department throughout the great set of buildings. There were several specimens of the Holstein breed, all of which looked good enough to follow the shows and bring home the ribbons. One in particular, a two year old, that weighed six feet and two inches, another coming two this spring that was a good six feet and a beast. From here we go down to the basement of the barn to the sheep pen where they have nearly the whole basement as well as the large yard just outside with free run out or in as they please, there were forty-two of them and a sight to look at they were, as to size and long, heavy fleeces of wool, so pure and white one might easily say they must have been wintered in the house, as for breed, they run about fifty-five Leicester and Hampshire and well up in show class stock, not much do they resemble those sheep shipped into our State by the carloads from the barren ranges of the West this year by some of our sheep specialists, for the purpose of what they call it, to boom the sheep industry of Maine. May we look forward to looking at an exhibit of this Western stock at some of our popular Maine fairs next season.

What is home without a dog? And I was looking right at a rare specimen of a Shepherd, running around among these sheep in a very friendly way, and I was told that he was a perfectly trained dog around the herd.

We took towards the house again, while from every window there may be scenery noticed well worthy of the observer's attention, looking North, Long Mountain looms up which is only a comfortable walk from the buildings, another picturesque view is Profile Mountain which is said by many to be fully perfect as that famous Profile Mountain of New Hampshire, this Mountain is within one-fourth of mile of the farm, and in plain sight, the side facing the West has a perpendicular drop of nearly one hundred feet, and at the foot there are many large caves, while in one of

Rep. H. C. Perham's Reply

Answer to Letter to R. L. Cummings On the Apple Question

Mr. R. L. Cummings, West Paris, Me. Dear Sir: I received your letter of April 23. You request that I give you the actual facts concerning the "defeat of the Apple Measure," and that obligations to my constituency calls for such a statement.

Your statement in your letter and in news article concerning the "defeat of the apple measure" are somewhat misleading. I welcome this opportunity to give a statement comparing the Old Apple Law with the New Law, passed by the 58th Legislature.

The Previous Maine Apple Law allowed two months of procedure in the grading of apples and Branding of Containers.

1.—If apples were packed in closed packages and branded either Maine Standard, Maine Standard A, Maine Standard B, such apples were subject to the Compulsory Inspection Laws of Maine.

2.—All apples not in conformity with the above four grades could be packed in closed packages, were not subject to Compulsory Inspection, but must carry the one brand—Unclassified. No letters, figures, or trademarks could be used in connection with the brand Unclassified to show whether the container was filled with Old Apples, Cooking Apples, or a combination of high grade fruit.

The New Maine Apple Law permits three methods of procedure in the Grading of Apples and the Branding of Containers.

1.—If apples are packed in closed packages and branded either Maine Standard, Maine Standard A, Maine Standard B, such apples are subject to the Compulsory Inspection Laws of Maine.

2.—All apples in closed packages on which the state of federal brands or marks are not used shall be marked either Orchard Run or Unclassified. Such apples are not subject to Compulsory State Inspection. The packer may use any trademarks, letters, or figures in connection with the grade marks, provided such trademarks, letters or figures do not imitate or duplicate any official federal or state brands and marks.

3.—Apples in closed packages on which the Federal Brands and Marks are used shall be packed according to the U. S. grades and subject only to Federal Inspection. Such Federal Inspection is optional and made only at the request of the parties financially interested. Packers under the Federal Law have a choice of Ten Grades as follows:

The Children's Corner

Things to Make

1. A Bulletin Board.

Find a board or piece of heavy cardboard about fifteen inches by six and plane it until it is smooth. Stain or paint it brown or green. Hang the bulletin board in the kitchen or in your playroom. On the hooks put your best school papers, any pictures you draw or paint and anything interesting you find in a newspaper or magazine.

size. Change the news on your board every week.

2. Soap Carving.

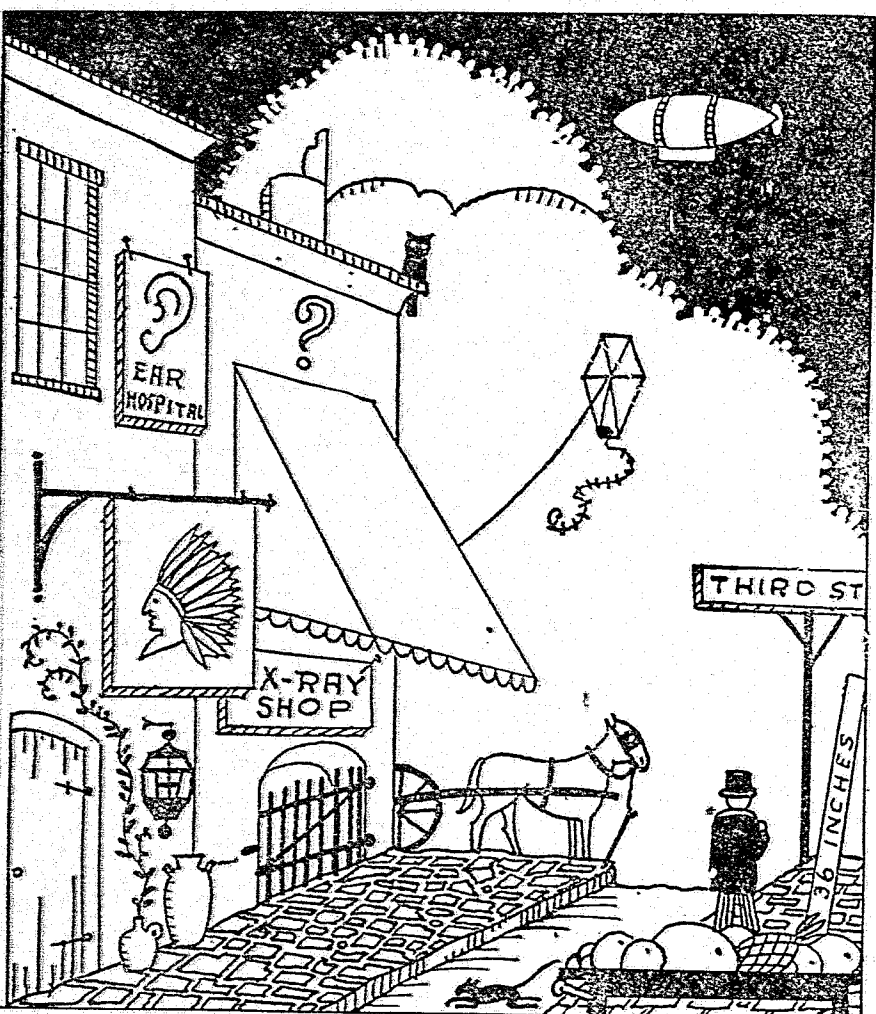

From a bar of hard white soap you can make heads, boats, houses and many other things. Even a small piece of soap may be carved into a tiny dog, a bird or a fish. You may do some of the carving with a knife and use sharp pointed pieces of wood to outline the designs and rub away the soap.

3. Popcorn People.

When you pop corn next time save some of the kernels and do not put them, for these are to be used to make some people. Probably you can find some short pieces of wire in the attic or cellar, or in the tool box. Twist three pieces of wire together to form a figure with wire arms and legs. Then cover the wires with popcorn, bending the ends a little so the last kernels will not slip off. You can twist the heads and arms and legs in different positions and your popcorn people may be standing or sitting, dancing or running. Perhaps with a pencil you can make eyes, nose and mouth on the top kernel. Make some tiny popcorn people for sister's doll house and a tall father and mother with small children for your games. These little white people will ride on your animals, march with your soldiers and help you keep store.

A DAY WHEN EVERYTHING WENT WRONG

By Delphina Whitman

I started in a day wrong, once, by falling out of bed, waking myself and receiving numerous bruises. I glanced at the clock and seeing it was quite late, decided to put on my clothes and go downstairs, for I feared I might receive more bruises if I went back to bed, for I might fall out again.

So downstairs I went and started to prepare my own breakfast, knowing that the rest had already eaten. Fancied eggs, I decided to have some, but when I tasted it, I discovered I had put ginger instead of cocoa into my cup. I refused to drink it, but ate breakfast without any drink.

Later I started for school with a sled and my dinner, which was in a pill like the one mother always got laid in, but I knew it was O. K., for mother had put it up herself, and she always puts dinners up right.

I started sliding down the hill, but didn't get far for the runner broke and I received a great jerk to go along with the bruises I had received at home. Thinking it wasn't late, I went home and got my skis, but to my great surprise, they ended in the same way as the sled had, so I resolved to use my feet.

Arriving at school later, I found I was a half hour late, but I had a good excuse for being late, so they all thought at school.

I asked for a piece of paper for arithmetic and my teacher responded, "Yes." I started for the desk, but only to trip down with laughter, bringing the room down with laughter.

I thought my bad luck was all over, when nothing else happened, but lo! on opening my dinner pail, I discovered I had brought the wrong pail, and had Mother's lard. More laughter than ever at this, but they all shared their lunches with me and I secured enough to have a good dinner.

Sixty was my rank in spelling, which I thought real nice (2) with which to close the day.

SOUTH HARRISON

Mrs. Haskell Dead—Guests in Town—Club Resumed Meetings.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Haskell, a resident of Harrison since 1908, was called from this earth, Thursday evening, April 23, after an illness of about two months. She was a patient sufferer and was tenderly cared for by her step-daughter, Mrs. Leland Buck. She was born in Newry, June 10, 1854, the daughter of Hannah (Morrow) and Edwin Elbridge Dunn. There were also three brothers, only one of whom survives, Elbridge Gerry Dunn, of Attleboro, Mass. A greater part of her youth was spent in Poland, Norway later became her home and still later she came to Harrison to live.

On June 10, 1908, she was united in marriage to George A. Haskell of Harrison, who died April 27, 1919. Since then she has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Leland S. Buck at South Harrison, the latter being her step-daughter (Elanthe Haskell). Many nieces and nephews survive to mourn their loss, together with the step-daughter and grand-children, whom she loved as though they were her own. Rev. Andrew Young of the Calvary Community Church of Harrison spoke comforting words at the funeral services held Sunday, April 27, at one o'clock at the home. The fragrance of lovely flowers symbolized their silent sympathy and showed by their presence the love the community felt for her. Burial was in the family lot of her late husband, at Stewart's Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stevens spent Sunday recently, with her sister, Mrs. Mel Jordan. Mr. Stevens helped Mrs. Jordan paper, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potts and children of Bridgton spent the week end, recently with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Strout, and also with her sister, Una Gerry and family.

REPRESENTING AN APPLE TREE

By Fay Morgan
Greenwood Meadow Blossoming Field,
April 24, 1931.

Dear Cousin Apple Tree:
A bluebird came to me this morning and asked me if I had any word that I would like to send to you. I had so much to say I thought I would like to write a letter as I was sure bluebird could not remember it all. So he flew and got me some birch bark with a twig with which to write; I called my secretary, the rabbit, and he is writing this letter to you.

I received a letter from you this morning and asked me if I had any word that I would like to send to you. I had so much to say I thought I would like to write a letter as I was sure bluebird could not remember it all. So he flew and got me some birch bark with a twig with which to write; I called my secretary, the rabbit, and he is writing this letter to you.

A man came to me this morning and cut off some of my branches. I was sorry to have my children go, but I have so many I shall hardly miss them, and anyway my blossoms will come soon so I shall look the same as ever.

Well, cousin, I suppose you have grown quite a bit more than when the farmer took you up and set you out in Mayflower Meadow; probably we would not know each other now, if we should meet. We are quite a bit different, if we are cousins. In Autumn I have red, juicy McIntoshes on my branches, while you have Golden Bellflowers.

Bluebird is waiting to go out to Mayflower Meadow after straw for his nest. Rabbit wants to go to Mr. Green's vegetable patch to see if there are any cabbage yet, so I must not keep them waiting, although I could write pages and pages about myself.

I hope you will send a message back by Bluebird.

Affectionately yours,
Cousin Tree of Greenwood Meadow.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Flagg took their little grandson back to his home April 26th. Their daughter, Helen, went with them and will stay to care for the little boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Best (Miss Melva Brown) of Pownal, were week end guests of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Jordan. Her daughter, Veronica (Mrs. George Buras) of North Bridgton spent the day, April 26th, with them, also.

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Welch of Naples were recent visitors with his sister, Mrs. Dan Chaplin.

The Community Club met with Mrs. Cora Crossman Wednesday afternoon, April 22, after being postponed for a few weeks on account of bad traveling. Refreshments of jelly with whipped cream, and cake, were served.

Mrs. Lottie Edwards passed away April 3rd and funeral services were conducted by Rev. Irving Kemp of Casco. She leaves to mourn their loss, three sons, Forest, who always lived with his mother on the home place, and amply cared for her during her illness; Llewellyn Edwards of Canada, and Dathon Edwards of New York. Mrs. Edwards was loved by all who knew her. She also left two granddaughters, one in Canada and one in Augusta. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Russell Baker has returned to his school in Connecticut.

Mr. Johnson and family spent Sunday with relatives at East Otisfield.

William I. Ames is working for Mrs. Thorne, at Pleasant Lake Camps.

Howard Ames has been plowing for Chester Lamb.

Howard Ames carried Fred Brooks to Mechanic Falls, recently.

KEZZAR FALLS

There were no services in the M. E. church, Sun. Apr. 26 as Rev. Arthur Callaghan was attending conference in Portland and his people were glad he was to be returned to them for another term of years and also well pleased that Rev. Cyril Hughes, the District Superintendent for the last six years had been placed by the conference in Augusta, where being centrally located, many of his friends would have the opportunity of visiting him and also listening to his discourse.

Helen Pratt of Bates and her brother, Norman, of Orono, were week end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt, recently.

Miss Mildred Stanley, teacher of music in Waterville schools, gave her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stanley, the pleasure of her company during a week's vacation.

Miss Helen Wakefield, another homing bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wakefield, and teacher in an Everett, Mass., school, had a whole week's vacation with the loved ones at home.

Miss Olin Banks attended the M. E. conference in Portland, recently.

Miss Minerva Cross, one of the student a light run of scarlet fever.

This is Monday, April 27th, the river is high and so is the wind. The lumbermen are rolling the logs off the bank into the river; they strike the water with high glee and wind and current favoring, they rush to their own destruction, where the saw mills of Saco await their coming.

Friday evening, April 24th, in Knights of Pythias Hall, "The Yellow Shadow", a mystery comedy in three acts, was presented by the Kezzar Falls Library Association. Differing to anything undertaken here before, it was a difficult play requiring much rehearsal and repeated credit on the cast of ten actors and their traits. Being a mystery play it was expected to be realistic and blood curdling, and fulfilled expectations.

Mrs. Perley A. Cross spent a few days with friends in Portland, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wiggins, who were in Florida all winter, have recently returned home.

At the Kiwanian meeting at Hotel Malvern, April 27th, Orman L. Stanley gave a lucid talk on the pros and cons of the banking system and being interested himself almost made a charm of it for others.

Rev. L. A. Edwards, pastor of the Bethel Congregational church officiated. Mrs. Swift is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Mitchell, a graduate of Gould Academy, a member of the Robekahs and is employed at N. S. Stowell & Co.'s mill.

Miss Gladys Gibbs was tendered a valet shower, Monday evening, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Gibbs, in honor of her approaching marriage to Evans Wilson. The affair was planned and carried out by the Epworth League of which Miss Gibbs is a member and was a complete surprise as was very evident upon her arrival from the store where she is employed. As she entered the home which had been so lovingly decorated, lights were turned on and she was greeted by friends and relatives to the number of forty-six.

An original poem composed for the occasion was read by Mrs. B. C. Durrell. This was followed by the ringing of the doorbell and the announcement of a huge maybasket, which was filled to overflowing with gifts, which were opened by Miss Gibbs, assisted by the Misses Adelaide Bean and Margaret Dalzell. The basket which was refilled several times, contained a great variety of beautiful gifts.
